

Jigsy's Website & Direct Pickup Ordering

A straightforward plan for making the website official and, only if Jigsy's chooses, testing direct online pickup orders.

The website is free.
Online ordering is optional.

Two independent choices

1. Approve the website

Review the menu, photos, business details, and domain.
Publish it only after Jigsy's approves the complete site.

2. Explore ordering

Schedule one workflow session. WiSense scopes a controlled pickup pilot after reviewing the existing POS and printer.

The simple commercial terms

- Website: $0.
- Online-ordering setup: $0.
- Fixed monthly WiSense fee: $0.
- WiSense fee: $0.99 only when an online order is accepted.
- Customer payment: collected by Jigsy's in person at pickup.

No accepted online order means no WiSense ordering fee.

This packet is a discussion proposal, not a contract or a revenue guarantee.

From concept to an owner-approved Jigsy's site

The concept can remain a better phone-ordering and information site even if Jigsy's never adds online ordering.

What the free website provides

Readable mobile menu Old Forge trays, cuts, specialties, wings, and other approved items in a format customers can browse without zooming an image.	One website, optional ordering Hours, phone, directions, and the menu always remain. Pickup-order buttons appear only when staff opens ordering and disappear whenever staff pauses it.
Jigsy's identity Food, catering, lounge, community, and Old Forge story presented with owner-approved wording and photography.	Search and sharing Structured business information, page metadata, and social-sharing details prepared for the official domain.

Owner approval comes first

Before publication, Jigsy's reviews every menu item, price, photo, hour, business detail, and domain change. Demonstration images are replaced with owner-approved originals.

Website handoff

1	Confirm the facts Menu, prices, hours, phone, address, business description, pickup information, and featured items.
2	Replace demonstration content Use owner-approved food, tray, wings, catering, lounge, patio, and exterior photographs.
3	Private final review Jigsy's reviews the complete mobile and desktop site before any official-domain change.
4	Publish with approval Connect the approved domain and keep phone ordering as the primary action unless the ordering pilot is separately approved.

Website design and build	$0
Initial content and photo setup	$0
Hosting	$0
Routine menu and hours updates	$0

A pickup channel that respects the kitchen

The goal is not to replace the phone overnight. It is to test a direct option while Jigsy's retains control of availability and prep time.

Customer experience

1 Browse	2 Customize	3 Send request	4 Staff accepts	5 Pay at pickup
-------------	----------------	-------------------	--------------------	--------------------

Restaurant controls

Acknowledge each request A customer request cannot disappear silently. The staff and kitchen handoff must be tested before launch.	Control prep time Staff can increase pickup time when service is busy instead of accepting unrealistic promises.
Pause ordering During a rush, ordering buttons disappear from the public site. Staff can reopen them during a slower period without calling WiSense.	Manage availability Items can be marked sold out and the pilot menu can remain smaller than the complete restaurant menu.

The integration is chosen after discovery

WiSense will first review Jigsy's existing POS, kitchen-printer model, and current ticket flow. Depending on the equipment, orders may use a native POS connection, a separate restaurant-controlled tablet, or a verified printer connection. Printer compatibility is not promised before inspection.

Pilot limits

- Pickup only.
- Limited owner-approved menu.
- No delivery or alcohol ordering.
- Customers pay Jigsy's in person at pickup.
- Rejected or unanswered requests do not create a WiSense fee.

Jigsy's keeps control of the money. The restaurant collects the full customer ticket at pickup. WiSense does not process payments, issue refunds, or store card numbers.

A measured 30-day rollout

The pilot produces real Jigsy's evidence instead of relying on broad restaurant-industry promises.

1

Workflow session
A 30-45 minute session documents the phone-order process, POS, printer, menu rules, taxes, tips, refunds, pickup timing, and rush limits.

2

Build and staff testing
WiSense builds the approved flow. Staff test submission, acceptance and rejection, ticket delivery, availability, prep time, and pausing.

3

Controlled launch
Jigsy's chooses initial days and hours. The pilot can start with regular customers or a lower-risk service period.

4

Thirty-day review
Review accepted requests, errors, response time, staff feedback, and owner experience. Keep, adjust, pause, or stop.

Transparent pricing

Item	Jigsy's cost
Website	$0
Ordering setup	$0
Fixed monthly WiSense fee	$0
WiSense fee per accepted online order	$0.99

Monthly settlement examples

Accepted online orders	Monthly WiSense fee
25	$24.75
50	$49.50
100	$99.00

Only accepted orders count. Jigsy's collects the disclosed 99-cent online-ordering fee with the food payment and pays WiSense separately from a monthly accepted-order statement.

Thirty-day review: accepted requests, response time, order errors, staff feedback, and owner experience determine whether the channel should be kept, adjusted, paused, or stopped.

A clear next step - without a commitment

The next step is one working session. Nothing accepts live order requests until Jigsy's approves the exact order flow and launch checklist.

What WiSense needs from Jigsy's

Operating workflow One owner or manager session plus the current POS name and kitchen-printer model.	Approved menu Prices, modifiers, hours, pickup policies, sold-out rules, and restricted items.
Approved photos Owner-provided food, tray, wings, catering, lounge, patio, and exterior images.	Testing and settlement One staff test contact plus agreement on how the monthly accepted-order statement will be paid.

Choose the next conversation

☐	Move forward with the free website only. Complete content, photo, and domain approval.
☐	Schedule a workflow session to explore ordering. WiSense returns with the exact pilot flow before any build commitment.
☐	Revisit online ordering later. The free website can stand on its own.

PROPOSED NEXT STEP

Schedule the workflow session.

WiSense will return with the exact integration method, pilot menu, order flow, and launch checklist for approval before accepting live order requests.

Nicholas Wittle - WiSense LLC
 nicholaswittle@wisensellc.com
 wisensellc.com

Prepared from: the current Jigsy's website, the working customer/staff ordering demo, and the settled pay-at-pickup / 99-cent accepted-order model discussed for this proposal.